personal popularity, his presence never has proved a means of vote-getting. During one campaign in the republican state head-quarters at Columbus one of the keenest managers took down a map and showed

POLITICS IN OHIO

Bryan Men May Bolt the Democratic Ticket.

WHAT WAS REALLY REPUDIATED

Masses Believe Free Silver a Dead issue.

FIGHT FOR LEGISLATURE

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 18, 1901.

There is a Bryan bolt in Ohio. Some of the Nebraska man's enthusiastic followers call it a revolt, but the movement has not taken on such proportions, nor from pres-

Cleveland, for a variety of reasons, is the best place in which to study the possibilities of the movement. The city always has

It is the native-born Americans who are the most persistent in following the isms.

They switch from greenbackism to free silverism, then to single taxism and various other theories. There is a large and solid German community, and the fact that occasionally somebody with a German name is identified with one of these socialistic or populistic movements should not lead to the error of supposing that he is in any way representative of the German voters. The latter during the last few years have been a buttress of sound money and conservative political action. There is also a large Italian element in Cleveland.

What the Democrats Repudiated.

I have been told by many democratic politicians during the last few days that Ohio did not repudiate Bryan, but rather Bryanism. Others have declared that the democratic state convention repudiated both Bryan and Bryanism. They say that if a convention of "kickers" be held this will not be attended by democrats, but by populists and socialists, who occasionally have affiliated with the democrats.

A glance at the names of the men who are prominent in the so-called revolt sup-ports this claim. For a quarter of a cen-tury or so most of them have been identified with the independent, populist, socialist, prohibition or greenback movements, though the democratic leaders are always glad to take them into camp. In the platform which a group of the Cleveland leaders in the present movement have put forth, and in which they call themselves "We, Eryan democrats of Ohio," they demand that all public utilities be owned and operated by the public and that the initiative and referendum be instituted, in order that the people may be able to protect themselves in their political rights.

I do not know how far Mr. Bryan be-lieves in the ownership of public utilities, but the initiative and referendum is one of his favorite doctrines. The proposed re-these propositions by the Ohio democrats, for the state convention did not repudiate them. With Mayor Johnson forcing the indorsement of his taxation ideas into the state platform, and with the mayor's prominence as a party leader the Bryanites would have no reason to complain that their views on these subjects were not

Free Silver Abandoned.

The real ground of the proposed revolt is that free silver as a party doctrine has been definitely abandoned. From some knowledge of the Ohio democrats, gained that this abandonment is complete and final. The masses of the party do not feel unkindly toward Bryan. He still has considerable personal popularity, but the idea for which he stands is dead, and he never will be able to rally the Ohio democrats to his support on that idea.

issue and see no prospect of success in striving to keep it alive. And they want to succeed. The yearning for success always has been strong with the buckeye democrats, and on more than one occasion has caused them to renounce their historic party principles. But invariably, after pursuing a heresy for a certain length of time unsuccessfully, they have abandoned it and taken up the safer ground of opposition on general principles to the positive policies of the republicans in power.

Thus is the precise condition today. The Ohio democrats as a party have no further use for free silver, and if Mr. Bryan continues to champion that issue, they will Coming Convention of Bolters.

There may be a convention of Bryan democrats in Columbus, as planned, which will have a certain amount of interest.

But it will be small in numbers and probably smaller in influence on the campaign.

While they are in no danger of losing the state, naturally the republican managers will be glad to see the movement inaugurated, for they want as much family trouble as possible among their opponents. But they will not place any reliance on the revolt as a means of electing their own candidates. The democratic leaders, on their part, in spite of the talk of some of them forth all their efforts toward conciliation.

What they really want is votes for their state officers and members of the legislature. Colonel James Kilbourne, the candidate for governor, wants to be elected, and his friends will seek to placate the Eryanites with soft words and softer explanations. At the same time they will rejoice that the millstone of free silver is no longer around the neck of the party.

Among the politicians it is becoming a regularity that they became a tradition. But for ten years now this has not been the case. The republicans, in spite of factional struggles within their ranks, have held to-

Howard Dent, Also Colored, Vic-BANK,

AN INQUEST TO BE HELD

Charles Doyle took the life of Howard Dent last night and hurriedly left for parts unknown. A razor was the weapon used in the tragedy, and it was wielded with such force that the victim's head was almost severed from his body. The parties to the tragedy were colored, and were employed as hostlers in the stable of the United States Express Company, No. 477 C street northwest, only a few doors from police headquarters. As soon as Doyle realized what he had done he leaped from the second story of the stable, where the crime was committed, to the alley below, a distance of about fifteen feet, to a cobblestone pavement. He ran in an easterly direction a short distance, but turned north to Indiana avenue just before reaching the rear entrance to police headquarters. He then went through Judiciary Square and after reaching G street the police lost trace of him. In what direction he went after leaving the pension office the police could not ascertain last night, although it was claimed that a colored man had seen him in the vicinity of 15th and H streets northeast about 9

So far as the police and detectives could learn there was no provocation for the crime. The men had been engaged in an exchange of words, which started in a friendly way, but Doyle soon became and the murder followed. Indulge in Badinage. Doyle was detained last night after his regular hour for quitting work, and about 7:30 o'clock he was asked by Grayson to go to a lunch room on C street and get him something to eat. "You don't want anything to eat," Doyle is alleged to have told him. "You only want me to refuse you, so you can refuse me when I ask you to go."

The good-natured wordy combat was kept up a short time, and Grayson said to Doyle: "I think I can whip you if you keep your feet on the ground," and Doyle retorted: "Why in the — don't you catch 'com." ence of the campaign managers of both parties that wherever Bryan spoke in Ohio he brought out the full republican vote.

"Yes. I am so many." Grayson added.
At this juncture Doyle walked toward Dent and informed him it was time for him best and in the him to stop his "— fooling."

Leyle walked to the harness room and returned with a razor. Pushing Dent against the wall, he made the remark: "If you fool with me again I'll cut your throat from ear to ear."

"Go away, Charlie," said Dent. "What's the matter with you? I think you're a coward, but if you put down your razor I'll fight you."

the democratic campaign depends somewhat on the outcome of the proposed bolters' convention. Bryan's confidential friends believe he will discourage that gathering and will insist on coming to the state in order to show his loyalty to the ticket. Such a course will prove a dilemma for the politicians who are in control of the party materials.

The advantages of "masut" over coal are said to be a one-fourth greater heat producing quality, a greater ease in handling, very little smoke and the ability to produce full-power steam with it in less time than coal takes.

All arc and incandescent lamps lighted fifteen minutes after sunset and extinguished forty-five minutes before sunrise.
